Send better emails faster. With out.bounz.

On average, you spend 7.5 hours a week reading and writing emails. That can be done faster. With out.bounz you automate your email communication. Directly in Salesforce.

Design your individual workflow.

Use email automations to minimise the effort in your communication. Send emails not only to standard objects, but also to individual custom objects in your Salesforce CRM. And create flexible, customised email templates with dynamic content from Salesforce. So you can build workflows and processes the way you need them.

Translate email messages with a click.

Use the built-in DeepL translator to translate your messages with a click and deliver your email in your recipient's language.

Be up-to-date thanks to activity tracking.

Thanks to activity tracking, you always have an overview of the status of your sent emails and optimise your communication based on numbers and data.

Practical use cases. How out.bounz can help you.

out.bounz is designed to simplify your work. And save time. When writing emails that you send over and over again. No matter what department you work in.

SALES

Use prepared, dynamic text templates for sending recurring emails, such as offers or reminders, to save you a lot of time when communicating with customers and service providers.

HUMAN RESOURCES

In HR, out.bounz significantly shortens your hiring process. Use pre-written email templates to inform applicants about the status of their application. Or automate onboarding before the first day.

MARKETING

With out.bounz you create and optimise newsletters based on easy-to-understand evaluations. The emails are saved in the respective contact and provide you with an optimal insight into your customer communication.

CUSTOMER SUPPORT

out.bounz helps you to save email reactions to your support ticket directly in the ticket itself. This way, you always have a direct overview of what was communicated in the respective support case.

ACCOUNTING

Your customers haven't paid their invoices yet? With out.bounz you can send payment reminders and dunning letters completely automatically. Create one-time email templates and send emails based on the invoice status.
