

Box for Salesforce

Bring all your content to life, in any Cloud, all inside Salesforce

With Box for Salesforce, all of your content, no matter the file size, is available for use within Salesforce. If you want to make work easier for your teams by empowering them to securely access and edit files, sign documents, and collaborate with internal colleagues as well as external partners and customers, Box for Salesforce is the answer.

Improve internal and external collaboration

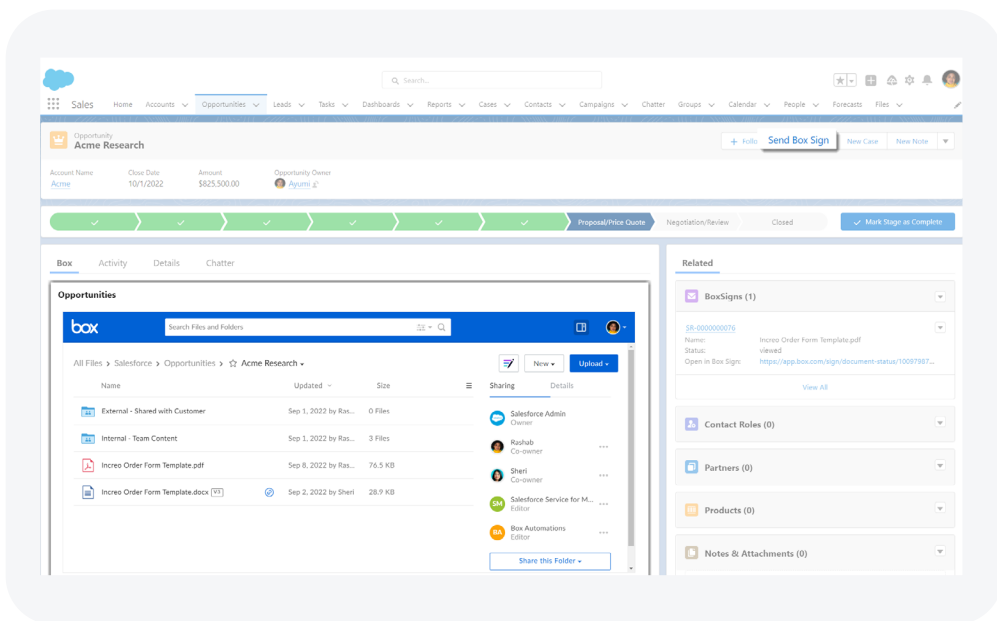

Quickly create and associate shared folders with a Salesforce record, and invite colleagues, partners, and customers to review and add their own files.

Increase productivity and Salesforce adoption

Streamline work by embedding the familiar Box interface and folder structure directly into Salesforce objects.

Maintain security and control over your content

Manage internal- and external-facing content safely and securely with Box and Salesforce permission levels, compliance, and governance.

The Power of Box for Salesforce

Box Sign

With Box Sign, you can stop paying for e-signatures by the document or user and give every Box user the ability to configure and send any document for e-signature from anywhere in Salesforce.

slack

With Box for Slack, you'll improve productivity, case resolution, and customer satisfaction scores by enabling your customer service team to safely and securely interact and share content with customers.

Quip

Spend less time toggling between tabs and more time completing projects. With the Box Files Viewer Live App for Quip, you can make Quip your collaboration hub while keeping all of your content centralized in one secure location.

"The fact that Box is a platform that easily integrates with Salesforce and other key applications is a huge advantage for us. Box is the center that brings everything together."

Gus Shahin, CIO
