Optimizing Salesforce under budget pressure

Tier-one automotive supplier

Salesforce architecture redesign

Inside governor limits

Client-maintainable

01 The Challenge

Aggressive IT budget cuts forced the client to find a “doing more with less” approach to an existing Salesforce investment that was already underperforming.

02 The Approach

We worked directly with executive stakeholders to align on outcomes, then redesigned the org's architecture around real business-function objectives — built to stay inside Salesforce governor limits and configurable enough that the client's own team could maintain it going forward.

CLIENT FEEDBACK

“Setlerz successfully completed the project within the specified timeframe and with excellent quality. What we appreciated the most was their adaptability, openness, diligent work, and sincerity in managing project challenges.”
