

Lexion is the fastest way to get deals done right

Product Overview

Streamline and centralize the contracting process in a system that works the way you do

Lexion is easy to use, simple to implement, and won't require your business to change the way they work. It provides the essential features and integrations businesses need to accelerate deals and contracts (and none of the features they don't). Adoption is a breeze with intuitive, email-driven workflows, and powerfully simple features like no-code automation help accelerate deals at every stage—no training required.

Goodbye, change management. Hello, ops acceleration.

Many of our clients are interested in improving the contracting process. However, they are wary of the cost of implementation and the difficulty of getting the entire organization to adopt elaborate systems. Lexion's novel, email-centric approach is a game changer in that it addresses the chief barriers to adoption and dramatically increase the chance that the business will realize the benefits of the system.

Wonderful Workflows

Pre-signature power to speed up contract review and more with intuitive task management made for speed.

Easy Approvals

INTEGRATES SEAMLESSLY WITH

Lexion is a powerfully simple operations workflow platform that helps every team do more business faster, by streamlining and centralizing the contracting process in a system that works the way you do. We built Lexion at Paul Allen's artificial intelligence research institute, with an experienced team from Microsoft, Facebook, Google, and Amazon. Top AI investors (including A16Z, Sequoia, and Goldman Sachs) voted Lexion as one of the top 40 Intelligent Applications to watch in 2022. Most importantly, fantastic brands trust Lexion to help them close deals faster, such as Outreach, OfferUp, Blue Nile, and many more.
