WHO IS ADC?

American Data Company is a business process and technology consulting firm specializing in Cloud Computing platforms. We are proud to be an official consulting partner for the Force.com Platform, an industry leader in Platform as a Service (PaaS) technology.

THE PLATFORM EXPERTS

American Data Company assists organizations in navigating the Force.com platform by providing consulting, implementation and training services. We assist Mid-Market and Enterprise organizations to “do more with less” by leveraging Cloud technologies such as Salesforce.com’s Force.com Platform-as-a-Service (PaaS).

American Data Company enables clients to achieve rapid development, cost effective, elastic, and resilient solutions via the following services:

APPLICATION RATIONALIZATION

Ready to explore the Cloud but not sure where or how to begin? Utilizing a structured process, American Data Company provides advisory services – evaluating business process, application portfolio, total cost of ownership, and technological fit – to determine the right approach for you.

APPLICATION DEVELOPMENT

Interested in migrating an existing application or developing a new application on the Force.com platform? Let us do the heavy lifting and design, architect, implement and support your application on the Force.com platform.

APPEXCHANGE PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Are you interested in leveraging the Force.com platform and the AppExchange to distribute your software? American Data Company can guide you through the certification process or develop and support your application from start to finish.

TRAINING

Want to get a leg-up and establish self reliance on the Force.com platform? American Data Company provides remote and hands-on customized training experiences to help you achieve your goals.

NOT JUST ANY APPLICATION DEVELOPMENT PLATFORM

Force.com is a revolutionary platform for developing enterprise web applications – enabling you to “do more with less”. The platform provides powerful out of the box tools such as database infrastructure, user interface management, a security framework, integration services, and an analytics toolkit that help to get applications up and running quickly and reliably. In fact, studies show that development on the Force.com platform is nearly five times faster than building traditional applications on technologies such as Java and .Net.¹

Because the Force.com platform is powered by Salesforce.com’s pay-as-you-grow world class infrastructure, you pay for only what you need. This means you can say ‘goodbye’ to significant capital investments and long waits to acquire and deploy infrastructure, and ‘hello’ to infinite capacity with dynamic provisioning and modest monthly operating expenses.

AMERICAN DATA COMPANY IS POWERED BY THE FORCE.COM PLATFORM

American Data Company is one of the 65,000 companies that trust Salesforce.com and the Force.com platform to run our business. We leverage Force.com for our Sales, Marketing, Professional Service Management, Time Tracking, and Content Management needs.

EXPERIENCED. TRUSTED. DEPENDABLE.

We believe our customers’ successes speak for our success. Don’t just take our word for it.

Independent surveys conducted by Salesforce.com consistently report that American Data Company clients rate us with the highest levels of satisfaction. Salesforce.com has further recognized our experience and success by featuring us in a publication, naming us “one of the fastest growing Cloud Computing consulting firms.”²
