

Stronger Together...

Together with Salesforce, Dispatch can easily link people, process, and data to create a modern field service experience that delights customers, empowers contractors, and promotes a positive brand image for your business.

Salesforce is the home for the complete record of your relationship with your customers, but one of the most important elements of that relationship, the customer field service experience, is missing when you use Salesforce alone. By integrating with Dispatch, you can enrich the field service experience, give more information to the service agent, and capture a complete picture of your service and sales relationship with every customer.

All-in-One Reporting

When coupled with Salesforce, Dispatch automatically syncs all customer, performance and job data between systems. This sync easily allows any company to track important metrics for improved reporting without the need for double data entry.

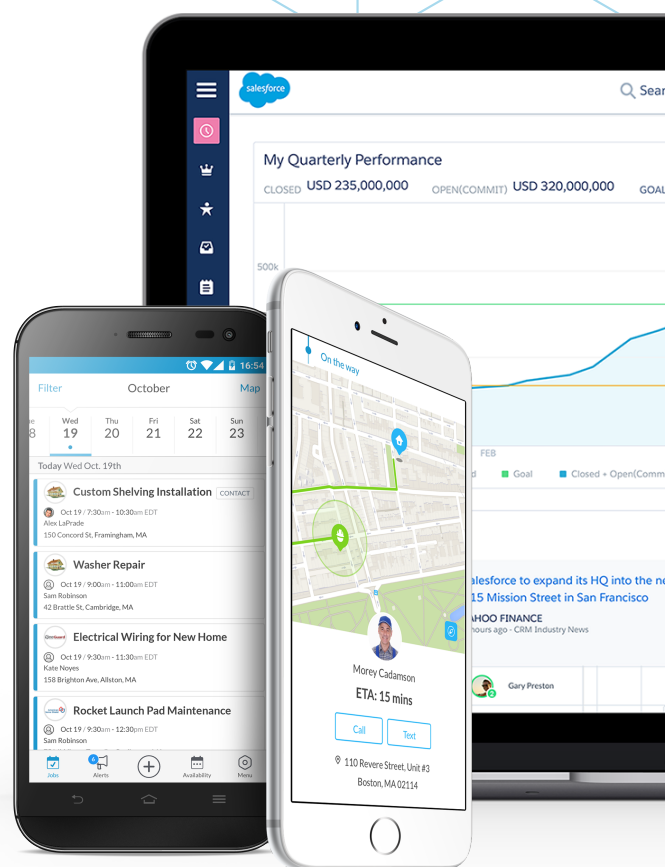

Send Jobs Directly from Salesforce

Simplify your workflow and enable more efficient, detailed communication to your technicians and third-party contractors by instantly sending jobs, leads, and cases with all the relevant customer information directly from Salesforce.

Connect to Salesforce with One Click

Dispatch instantly connects to your Salesforce account with one click of a button and has a seamless integration with compliance control and data protection. This connection will help businesses solve the communication gap between enterprise brands, third-party contractors, and the customer.
