Unified SaaS Management for Right-Sized Contracts
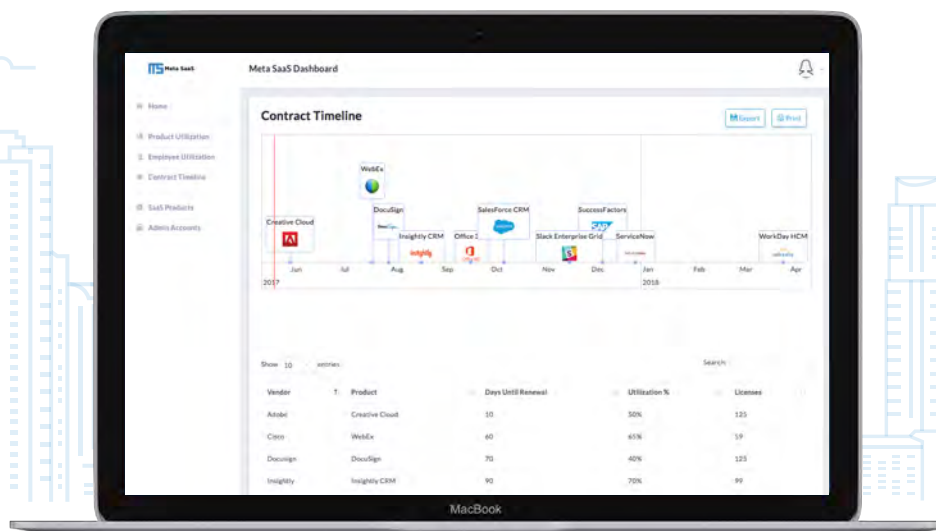

META SAAS

Today's companies are increasingly relying on SaaS applications for business critical operations. Gartner estimates SaaS spending will grow by nearly 20 percent to $76 billion by 2020[1] while also claiming as much as 30 percent of software license costs are wasted through inefficient management.[2] That's nearly $26 billion dollars blown on unnecessary licenses.

For procurement, it's all about utilization, but how is it determined? Can you pull a real-time report that shows who is actually using the software, to what extent and if there are multiple instances? Do you know if the features you are paying for are even needed? Can you see a timeline with upcoming contract renewals and receive reminders? Unless you can, you're likely overspending.

It's time to take control and right-size your SaaS contracts.

Meta SaaS is the best in the industry in simplifying SaaS management. We provide a singular, detailed view of all SaaS vendors and instances, renewal dates, and real user utilization so you have the data you need to negotiate smarter contracts and pay only for what will be used.
