SALESFORCE CRM

EMPOWER YOUR SALES TEAM WITH DATA

Salesforce CRM can help your business align sales, marketing and service efforts by giving the sales team all the tools it needs. Your business will be able to connect with customers, keep them interested and then get them to close on deals faster than ever. With Salesforce, you can track all of your customer information and interactions in a single place, and use that knowledge to leverage growth.

POWERFUL CRM TOOLS FOR EVERY SALES NEED

With Salesforce, your business can use just one piece of software to fully power an entire front office. Once fullly, built, the CRM suite can include a wide range of tools, including the Sales Cloud that keeps you in constant contact with leads and allows you to complete the entire sales cycle on a single platform, the Service Cloud for proactive, involved customer service and Marketing Cloud that can build and personalize email and social campaigns.

SPECIALIZED IMPLEMENTATION

Salesforce CRM may have the weapons you need to arm your sales team for success, but the software will be useless if it's not implemented properly and filled with your company data. Let the experts at Datix align the software to your organizational business practices so that every action your sales teams need to undertake is supported by CRM functionality.
