Take your Homeownership program to the next level!

It's likely that in the not-so-distant future, we will look back upon our previous ways of managing programs and wonder how we did it. Cloud-based computing has made the effort to organize and share data much easier. The affordable homeownership sector has taken a significant leap forward with the development of HomeKeeper, a dynamic web-based application designed specifically for affordable homeownership programs managed by non-profits and local governments.
