

Learning Management Systems (LMS) are interactive training portals that use gamification techniques to enhance learning. The idea behind these training portals is that e-learning is organized and managed within a single platform. These platforms offer organizations an opportunity to deliver large-scale, resource-based interactive training programs.

Adoption can be the biggest challenge for any software company. Custom training portals allow your team to enable customers and employees to get started quickly and stay engaged. You can launch and update training initiatives, create an online community, receive instant feedback, provide support via chat and forums, as well as being able to track all of it.

Benefits to Your Organization

- Deliver custom learning content to easily reach your global customers 24/7/365
- Improve engagement and retention by providing an intuitive and gamified training experience
- Track progress to ensure learners meet key milestones
- Enable your team to create content without developers
- Keep your organization up to date with compliance requirements related to training

Benefits to Your Community

- Your community is able to start using your software efficiently from the start
- A flexible and dynamic learning process provides a custom experience for every learner
- Instant feedback helps reinforce knowledge, making learning autonomous and self-directed
- Intuitive UX/UI design makes it easier to boost user satisfaction
